John A. Lakey, 33367652, Pfc, Cav, Army of the United States. For heroic achievement in France on 31 August 1944, in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States. While on a mounted reconnaissance on 31 August 1944, the advance section of a platoon was unavoidably ambushed by enemy tanks and infantrymen. Members of the two lead vehicles immediately dismounted and engaged the enemy but the intense fire prevented them from maneuvering to safety. Pfc Lakey, after disregarding the enemy's initial fire to successfully drive his vehicle into a defilade position, took up position along with other members of the section. During the course of the fight the ammunition supply of the section was expended. Voluntarily and with utter disregard for his own safety, Pfc Lakey crossed an open stretch of ground in the face of heavy enemy fire to obtain ammunition from his one quarter ton vehicle. His actions enabled the trapped section to continue to engage the enemy as other elements of the platoon withdrew to safety. The courage, aggressiveness, and unselfish devotion to duty displayed by Pfc Lakey exemplify the finest traditions of the armed forces of the United States. Entered military service from Pennsylvania.

Emory Makrancy, 33282554, Cpl, Cav, Army of the United States. For heroic achievement in France on 31 August 1944, in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States. On 31 August 1944, Cpl Makrancy, while on mounted reconnaissance, noticed that the lead section of a platoon was unavoidably ambushed by enemy tanks and infantrymen. The crews of the two lead vehicles had dismounted and taken up positions, but were being subjected to heavy enemy fire. Cpl Makrancy, an occupant of the third vehicle, and two companions, disregarding orders to withdraw to safety, dismounted, worked their way under direct enemy fire to the trapped men, and engaged the enemy despite the overwhelming odds. The support given by Cpl Makrancy and his companions enabled the trapped men to put down a base of fire and permitted the rest of the platoon to withdraw to safety. The aggressiveness, dauntless courage, and unselfish devotion to duty displayed by Cpl Makrancy are in keeping with the finest traditions of the armed forces of the United States. Entered military service from Pennsylvania.
