a few hundred yards again and halted. The mines had been cleared but the head of the column was being fired on. We moved several times during the day but only for short distances. At one halt, the men took cover because of armor piercing shells going over the column. However, they were all over, and no damage was done. The column started moving at 1730, passed through Baronville at 1800, and closed in on Morhange at 1830. Bn CP set up in a building in town. Hq & Hq Co personnel found shelter in buildings in the town. A welcome change from sleeping outside in the mud. 16 Nov 44 Location same. Remained in same location. The battalion is in position to support the infantry in case of a counter attack. The day was devoted to cleaning up and resting. A large mail call today helped to boost morale quite a bit.
