19 September 1944

Small enemy delaying forces operated ineffectively in the BOIS DE CHAPITRE.

20 September 1944

An enemy force of about 100 men, with two 75mm AT guns and 5 HMG's held Hill 299 South of MILLERY. B Company's attack with tanks at 1700 captured forty-six PW's, and the remainder either scattered or were killed. The remnants of the enemy delaying detachments, estimated as 120 men, established a road block at 85352499, interfering with the flow of supplies to our 2d and 3d Battalions. This force had the support of 150mm guns and 120mm mortars, with a radio for fire direction.

21 September-22 September 1944

The enemy line to our front extended from hill 401 through BRATTE. The German road block at 85352499 continued to harass our supply, and resisted the attempts of the 1st Battalion to dislodge them.

23 September-25 September 1944

The Germans at the road block at 85352499 were either killed, captured or withdrew during the night of the 23d September. Our 2d and 3d Battalions, attacking at 1630, were held up by enemy delaying forces, heavily armed with LMG's, on Hill 401. The delaying forces were either killed or captured, or withdrew to positions on MT ST JEAN-MOIVRONS, early on the 24th September.

26 September 1944

An enemy force estimated at 1 battalion defended the Northwest part of MT ST JEAN, with the support of 120mm and 80mm mortars, 150mm gun, and direct fire artillery from JEANDELINCOURT, MOIVRONS and MT ST JEAN, and were able to maintain their positions. The 1st Battalion of the 3d Paratroop Training Regiment, from well organized positions around MOIVRONS, supported by medium and light artillery and mortars, successfully defended against our attack. An enemy force estimated at 1 company were forced to withdraw from Hill 340 by the 1st Battalion, and occupied SERRIERES, SIVRY, MT ST JEAN (NW) and MOIVRONS.

27 September 1944

The Germans, preceded by heavy artillery and mortar fire, attacked Hill 340 with CT 13 (XII) and CT Hildebrand, a total strength of 200-250 men. The German attacking force came from SIVRY and SERRIERES, moved around the base of Hill 340, and attacked from the North and Southwest. These German forces suffered extremely heavy casualties, and the remnants were forced to withdraw. This force penetrated some of our forward positions and approached the C Company CP to within 15 feet, where they were killed or wounded by point blank pistol, machine-gun and rifle fire, as well as grenades.

28 September 1944

In the morning at about 0630 German remnants of about 120 men again attacked Hill 340, using tactics similar to those used on the attack the night of the 26th-27th September. In spite of a strong artillery concentration fired to precede the attack, the Germans were unable to get close enough to our Infantry to be effective. They again suffered heavy casualties, and were demoralized by artillery concentrations fired by our Cannon Company.

29 September-30 September 1944

The enemy occupied MT ST JEAN, SIVRY, SERRIERES and MOIVRONS, and were active with 120mm and 80mm mortars and light artillery fire.

REPORT FOR HISTORY SEPTEMBER 1944 -S - 2

1 September 1944

1) Enemy.

There was no enemy contacted other than small delaying forces, and their attempts at delay were ineffective. Bridges were blown at SANDRUPT, LAHEYCOURT and BAR LE DUC, and the roads into REVIGNY were mined. There was no enemy front line, and no air, artillery or armor reported.

2) Elements effecting action.

There was no reconnaissance by the enemy, and the civilians seemed to be quite friendly. The terrain was hilly, with rivers running at right angles to the movement of the CT.

2 September 1944

An enemy force estimated at 100 men (SS) in the vicinity of BOUCANVILLE and 100 men in the vicinity of MONTSEC fought delaying action. They had some mortars, but no artillery or other special weapons. This delaying action was unsuccessful, and the enemy withdrew to the East and Northeast.

3 September-7 September 1944

The enemy withdrew in the Regimental Sector to the East bank of the MOSELLE River, and organized there from PAGNY to DIEULOUARD with an estimated Division. They were well supplied with artillery of all calibres, with mortars, and with heavy and light machine guns. All bridges over the MOSELLE in the Regimental Zone of Action had been blown. The civilians were not as reliable as they had been previously, and very few of them who had recently been on the East bank of the MOSELLE were to be found. MOUSSON and XON Hills on the East bank of the MOSELLE, and the high ground to the North and South occupied by the Germans afforded them excellent CP's and masks, behind which it was possible to supply and shift troops, and locate Artillery without coming under our observation. In the river valley itself, the ground formed a flat, flood plain over a thousand yards wide, without cover or concealment, giving the Germans excellent fields of fire for their automatic weapons. The river and canal formed a double obstacle to our troops.

8 September-12 September 1944

The Third Panzer Grenadier Division continued to organize on the East bank of the MOSELLE, and German artillery and mortars were active. There were no other changes in the enemy situation during this period.

12 September 1944

German forces from the 29th Regiment, 3d Motorized Division, and the 1121st Regiment of the 553d Division, were captured, and the boundary between these two divisions had passed through the bridge at SCAPORE. The 1121st Regiment had six 81mm mortars, four 120mm mortars, and a number of light and heavy machine guns in each battalion. The 29th Regiment had a similar organization. The 1121st had 18 bazookas (German) per battalion. The attack of the CT317th on the morning of the 12th September took the defending Germans by surprise, and we had captured our objectives before the Germans were able to take effective counter measures. The enemy had placed anti-personnel mines in the canal bank in the vicinity of our crossing points, but these were ineffective. German forces withdrew to a line from ATTON to the Road Junction at (U828321); to MILLERY to the MOSELLE River at (U765180). During the day, German 88 direct fire from MOUSSON and 150mm fire from positions further Northeast harassed troops and movements in the vicinity of the bridges built by the Engineers, and they attempted unsuccessfully to destroy these bridges. There were very few civilians at the bridgehead. Our forces had excellent observation of the ground to the East from the ST GENEVIEVE-BEZAUMONT ridge, and LA FALAIS hill. Enemy occupation of MOUSSON gave them direct observation of the crossing sites, but the crossing at DIEULOUARD was somewhat screened from enemy observation by trees. We captured 16 PW's.

13 September 1944

The Germans attacked early on the 13th September with 2 Battalions of the 29th Panzer Grenadier Regiment, from FORET DE FACQ, through ST GENEVIEVE and BEZAUMONT, then moved East toward VILLE AU VAL. The attack was supported by artillery and mortar fire, and the Germans also had half-tracks, self-propelled guns and tanks. The Regiment destroyed eight German tanks during the counterattack, which was entirely repulsed by 1400 on the 13th September.

14 September 1944

Early in the morning an enemy AGF unit, consisting of from 400 to 600 men attacked and seized LA FALAIS ridge. By 1700, our counterattack had retaken LA FALAIS, and time fire decimated the enemy AGF unit withdrawing.

15 September 1944

The Enemy, with an estimated force of 1 Battalion, counterattacked in the early morning, and captured ATTON and ST GENEVIEVE. The attack was supported with tanks, self-propelled guns, artillery and mortar fire. At 1630, an enemy force estimated at 1 Battalion and 33 tanks attacked the ST GENEVIEVE-BEZAUMONT ridge, and were repulsed with the loss of an undetermined number of tanks.

16 September 1944

The enemy occupied the line LANDREMONT-Hill 351-MILLERY with about 2 battalions. They defended successfully at MILLERY and LANDREMONT, supported by artillery and mortars. At about 1700, remnants of the AGF unit which attacked the 3d Battalion on the 14th September, attacked again, but were driven off as darkness fell.

17 September 1944

German forces occupied LANDREMONT-Hill 351-MILLERY. The force on Hill 351 consisted of an outpost and artillery CP, from which effective artillery and mortar fire could be directed on the advance of the 2d Battalion. In MILLERY, a small enemy force occupied the town and directed MG and mortar fire on K Company. There was a small delaying force in LANDREMONT which was strong in automatic weapons. All German forces were forced to withdraw.

19 September 1944

Small enemy delaying forces operated ineffectively in the BOIS DE CHAPITRE.

20 September 1944

An enemy force of about 100 men, with two 75mm AT guns and 5 HMG's held Hill 299 South of MILLERY. B Company's attack with tanks at 1700 captured forty-six PW's, and the remainder either scattered or were killed. The remnants of the enemy delaying detachments, estimated as 120 men, established a road block at 85352499, interfering with the flow of supplies to our 2d and 3d Battalions. This force had the support of 150mm guns and 120mm mortars, with a radio for fire direction.

21 September-22 September 1944

The enemy line to our front extended from hill 401 through BRATTE. The German road block at 85352499 continued to harass our supply, and resisted the attempts of the 1st Battalion to dislodge them.

23 September-25 September 1944

The Germans at the road block at 85352499 were either killed, captured or withdrew during the night of the 23d September. Our 2d and 3d Battalions, attacking at 1630, were held up by enemy delaying forces, heavily armed with LMG's, on Hill 401. The delaying forces were either killed or captured, or withdrew to positions on MT ST JEAN-MOIVRONS, early on the 24th September.

26 September 1944

An enemy force estimated at 1 battalion defended the Northwest part of MT ST JEAN, with the support of 120mm and 80mm mortars, 150mm gun, and direct fire artillery from JEANDELINCOURT, MOIVRONS and MT ST JEAN, and were able to maintain their positions. The 1st Battalion of the 3d Paratroop Training Regiment, from well organized positions around MOIVRONS, supported by medium and light artillery and mortars, successfully defended against our attack. An enemy force estimated at 1 company were forced to withdraw from Hill 340 by the 1st Battalion, and occupied SERRIERES, SIVRY, MT ST JEAN (NW) and MOIVRONS.

27 September 1944

The Germans, preceded by heavy artillery and mortar fire, attacked Hill 340 with CT 13 (XII) and CT Hildebrand, a total strength of 200-250 men. The German attacking force came from SIVRY and SERRIERES, moved around the base of Hill 340, and attacked from the North and Southwest. These German forces suffered extremely heavy casualties, and the remnants were forced to withdraw. This force penetrated some of our forward positions and approached the C Company CP to within 15 feet, where they were killed or wounded by point blank pistol, machine-gun and rifle fire, as well as grenades.

28 September 1944

In the morning at about 0630 German remnants of about 120 men again attacked Hill 340, using tactics similar to those used on the attack the night of the 26th-27th September. In spite of a strong artillery concentration fired to precede the attack, the Germans were unable to get close enough to our Infantry to be effective. They again suffered heavy casualties, and were demoralized by artillery concentrations fired by our Cannon Company.

29 September-30 September 1944

The enemy occupied MT ST JEAN, SIVRY, SERRIERES and MOIVRONS, and were active with 120mm and 80mm mortars and light artillery fire.
